A Reading Course in History, Biography and Philosophy.

This last course reaches beyond the regular College Course. For the graduates in the regular course, it offers extraordinary facilities in enabling them to extend their course of collegiate instruction to a higher degree than can be had in any similar institution in the Union. The Alumni of this, and any other college, may attend and study this course with much profit.

Course of Instruction.

MORAL SCIENCE AND BELLES LETTRES.

PROFESSOR BONNELL.

Morality is a science. It is no longer obscured midst the delusive subtleties and vague theories of speculative Metaphysics. Under the Heavenly influence of religion, the philosophy of morals has expanded and developed into a beautiful system; the study of which not only invigorates the mind, but refines the morals and enlightens the conscience. Too much importance can scarcely be given to this course of study. The mind of the present age is aggressive and utilitarian. Hence the path of reason and duty are ignored, while there is a shorter and smoother way open to the achievements of life. But the study of moral science arrests the mind in its thoughtless flight, and causes it to pause and study the grand and mysterious elements of our own immortal being. It teaches that "the great study of man is man." It then points our thoughts outward, and under the pure light of Revelation, enlarges our conceptions of moral and social duties, and heightens our obligations to God and man.

This course will be taught by Lectures and recitations. The design will not only be, to exercise and strengthen the mind, but also, to enrich it with the purest and brightest lessons of virtue and morality.

BELLES LETTERS will embrace correct reading, speaking and compositions, and whatever tends to adorn and dignify the style and expression of language, whether oral or written.

MATHEMATICS.

PROFESSOR MAYSON.

The greatest achievements of the human mind, depend chiefly on the exercise of human reason. Hence the importance of Mathematics, whose design and tendency, is to unfold and develop the great faculties of thought and reason. The young ladies of the present day are surrounded by a sickly and superficial literature. They acquire under its influence a diseased imagination, a beclouded reason, and a mind wholly unfit for the real and practical duties of life. This secret influence so dangerous to the mind and morals of the young, must be firmly resisted and successfully overcome by a thorough and rigid exercise of the mind in the great field of Mathematical reasoning.

It will be the design of the Professor in this department, to arrest the evil influences to which we have alluded; and give to the mind a healthy tone and vigorous action, by schooling it well in the various methods of deductive and inductive reasoning taught in this department.

The pupil will be taught herein by daily demonstrations and recitations at the black-board.

NATURAL SCIENCE AND FRENCH.

PROFESSOR HARRIS.

The study of Natural Science opens to our view the grand truths, the hidden secrets and sublime wonders, which surround us in the world of nature. Herein the mind is taught to reason from cause to effect, and to comprehend principles rather than facts. The sublime philosophy, rather than the isolated facts, of nature, are taught and enforced.

Thus, while the mind is being strengthened, its affections are quickened, and its conceptions are ennobled in beholding on every hand the most grand and beautiful displays of Infinite Wisdom and Goodness. The more we study the beautiful philosophy and benevolent designs of nature, the better do we comprehend the truth that "God is Love."

This course will be taught chiefly by Lectures.

FRENCH is also a part of the regular course. It will be taught upon the plan adopted by the best and greatest French Masters of the age.

LATIN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

PROFESSOR AKERS.

Language is one of the noblest attributes of human knowledge. Being the great vehicle of thought, it becomes the electric tie, which holds individuals, communities and nations in one common bond of sympathy and love. The study and improvement of language then, is certainly of paramount importance. We can only comprehend the philosophy and beauties of the English tongue by a thorough knowledge of the Latin.

The Professor in this department will labor assiduously to teach the pupil the principles and philosophy of the language—to enable her to trace the analogy and note the modifications of the Latin and English tongues. Thus a more enlarged and critical knowledge of the English is attained, while the mind is enriched and refined by the classic beauties of the Roman.

ENGLISH LITERATURE.

MRS. H. P. JUDGE.

This department has been noticed above, under the head of Belles Letters. We remark, however, that a thorough acquaintance with the principles and literature of our own language, is of the first importance. The Pronunciation, the Orthography, Penmanship, Reading, Composition and History of the English Language, are faithfully taught.

The Instructress in this course is faithful, experienced and accomplished, and will do justice to this field of study.

FINE ARTS.

MUSIC—VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL.

PROF. WURM.

In this Department the theory and practice of Music may be taught to the highest degree of perfection. The charms and accomplishments which music lends to the sterner graces of the mind, are fairly obvious to all in this age of cultivated refinement. It does not only refine the taste and increase the pleasures of its possessor, but also enables her to contribute largely to the happiness and comfort of others.

Dr. Wurm possesses a most versatile and superior genius for music, which has been cultivated in the best Schools and under the greatest masters of Europe. His great success in this and other Institutions of the South, together with his well won reputation as an accomplished gentleman and profound master of his Profession, offer for this Department all the commendation that an enlightened public can ask.

DRAWING AND PAINTING.

MISS MARIA BROWN.

This Department is now entirely under the control of Miss Brown. She is a native of Georgia—a lady of great worth and superior qualifications. She controlled this Department during the last Collegiate year in this Institution, and in such a manner as to give the most decided satisfaction to every one. The Trustees consider themselves fortunate in retaining the services of a lady so pre-eminently qualified to fill this Department.

A thorough knowledge of these branches of the Fine Arts, is one of the rarest and richest ornaments of female education. The present elegant and finished specimens which have recently passed from the hands of the instructress in this Department, should commend the Divine Art to every lover of the beautiful in life.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

Will be in the hands of faithful and competent teachers. Herein pupils will be well prepared to enter the College Classes. They will be drilled with an eye directly to that object.

MORAL IMPROVEMENT.

While the mental activities of the pupil are being developed, her moral and religious culture will be as constantly sought. In addition to her attainments in Literature and Science, the graduate of this Institution, in leaving her Alma Mater, will generally carry with her those principles of Christian morality which will guide her through life, sustain her in death, and crown her in Heaven.

The graduating class of the session just past, without an exception, bore ample testimony to this striking and beautiful fact.

Religious principles are inculcated without regard to sectarian bias.

GOVERNMENT.

Combined with moral and religious influence, the system of merit and demerit will be maintained and enforced in the government of the student. Any student who receives in a given time, such a number of demerit as assures the Faculty that her connection with the College is unprofitable to herself and injurious to others, will be most promptly and speedily removed.

PUBLIC WORSHIP.

The pupils will be required each Sabbath to attend public worship, at the Church of their choice, always in company with one or more of the Professors of the College. A weekly prayer-meeting is also held in the College by the Faculty, for the benefit of all such pupils as desire to attend these delightful exercises.

SACRED MUSIC.

All the pupils connected with the College are required to study and practice sacred music once each day, free of charge. At each annual commencement a special exhibition will be had in this interesting department.

DRESS.

No uniform in dress will be required, but costly apparel and Jewelry will not be tolerated by the rules of the College. Neatness and economy in dress will be taught as an essential element of a good education.

DEBTS.

No young lady in College will be permitted at any time, or place, or under any circumstances, to contract any debt with any merchant or other person, without the presence and permission of one of the Professors of the College.

BUILDINGS.

The buildings are large, commodious, and well ventilated. There are rooms in the College sufficient to board one hundred pupils, with convenience.

The main College building is a splendid and beautiful granite structure, with large windows and doors, after the order of the second Gothic. In front the Architrave and Cornice are supported by massive Doric columns, which give to the building an appropriate air of stately grandeur and classic elegance. The buildings and its outfit, &c., cost originally, about eighty thousand dollars, are inferior to none in the Southern country.

LOCATION.

The College is located on a high eminence over-looking the city, and also the surrounding country for thirty and forty miles in the distance. Thirty acres of land surround the College. A forest of native oak cluster around it, affording the campus and walks a cool and inviting shade. The quiet and neatness of the College, combined with its inspiring and beautiful scenery, tend to enliven the fancy and invigorate the mind of the student.

HEALTH.

For good water, pure air and delightful climate, Latrange has no superior. The extraordinary health of students and citizens attest this fact

The Trustees have great reason to congratulate the friends and patrons of the College, in having been so fortunate as to secure the services of Mr. P. G. Bessent and his amiable lady, as managers and proprietors of the Boarding House Department. Our patrons will find Mr Bessent not only correct and liberal, but polite and affable in all his business transactions. He has the experience of many years in this business. This, joined to his past success and great popularity as a Stewart, is sufficient evidence that no boarder will have any cause of complaint in his department.

Mrs Bessent is a lady in every sense of the word. Her skill in this department, united to her many christian virtues—her readiness to comfort the sick and cheer the distressed—her kindness of heart and sweetness of temper—assure us that mothers may with safety, commit their daughters to her hands, where they will be kindly cared for, whether in health or in sickness.

SCHOLASTIC YEAR.

The exercises of the College will open on the 24th of September, and close on the Wednesday after the first Sabbath in July following.

ENTRANCE AND CHARGES.

Pupils are required and expected to enter at the opening of the term. This is especially essential, that they may be formed at the beginning, into regular classes. They may, however, enter at any time, and will be charged from the time of entrance. Half of the charges for Tuition and Board must be paid in advance. The remaining half at the close of the term.

This regulation during the last term, was somewhat relaxed, in consideration of the recent great monetary pressure. But for the future, this rule must be rigidly enforced.

No deduction from tuition fees except in cases of protracted illness. No charges for board after the pupil leaves the Institution.

The following is the Report of the Board of Examiners, relative to the character of the recent Examination of this College.

To the Trustees of the LaGrange Female College :

Gentlemen—At the request of the Faculty, the undersigned committee have attended the Examinations of the College Classes of the LaGrange Female College, beginning on Monday, the 5th inst., and closing on Thursday, the 8th. As special interest is now felt in the success of the Institution under the new administration of its affairs, the Committee feel that the duty assigned them was a very important one. Feeling a lively interest in the cause of education, and being especially anxious that our Institutions of learning may succeed in elevating still higher the standard of attainment, the Committee attended the exercises with a fixed purpose to approve fully what was thought worthy of approval after a candid and impartial scrutiny. The most ample opportunity to investigate was afforded to the Committee, and the examinations, whether conducted by the Professors or by members of the Committee, were highly satisfactory. Six hours a day were devoted to these examinations—an hour and a half to two hours to each class.

The President, Rev. W. G. Connor, examined classes in Rhetoric and Moral Science.

From these examinations, and from the excellent discipline maintained during the examination, the committee are satisfied that the duties of the Presidency have been ably and faithfully performed. The suavity and firmness of the President have permitted him to get and retain a hold upon the affections of the young ladies, which has enabled him to exercise a large influence in promoting their moral and mental progress.

Prof. J. R. Mayson examined classes in Arithmetic, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry. The Committee can hardly do justice in this sketch to the skill and fidelity of Prof. M. as an instructor. Great patience, skill and experience as a teacher, and an intimate acquaintance with these subjects, could alone secure the success to which these classes have attained.

Prof. Jno. W. Akers examined classes in Latin. As Latin was made an essential to the honors of the College only a year ago, most of the classes were beginners. In drilling pupils in the elements of the Latin language, Prof. A. has been remarkably successful. The Committee must be allowed to express their gratification at the unusually thorough and systematic drilling to which the classes have been subjected in Etymology and Syntax. Those who have undertaken to guide the young mind along this rugged and slippery path, can fully understand that ability and zeal in the profession, and great perseverance, can alone enable the teacher to place the pupil upon the stand point at which the committee found these classes.

Prof. W. A. Harris examined classes in Natural Philosophy and French.

In Natural Philosophy the classes showed that they had been taught to reason upon the subjects presented for their consideration. The reasoning powers had evidently been brought into active exercise, and it was clearly shown that Prof. H. considers the cultivation of the mind of much more value than the mere hoarding of knowledge. The classes in French, too, proved that Prof. Harris is an able, faithful and successful instructor.

Mrs. Judge examined classes in English Literature, and Domestic Economy.

Mrs. Judge is so well known and approved by your body, that we need say no more than that her labors seemed to the Committee to have been eminently successful—fully sustaining the reputation already won by many years of successful and acceptable teaching.

In fine, the Committee take this occasion to congratulate the Trustees, and through them the patrons and friends of the Institution, upon the very favorable auspices under which the year's labors have been closed. The College is before the public, and it is the privilege of the citizens of LaGrange, and the surrounding country, to see that it is sustained. They owe this as a duty, not so much to the President, the Professors, the Trustees, and to the church under the patronage of which the College is placed, as to themselves, and their children. Let every citizen feel that he is doing an injury to himself, his children, his friends, and to society, whenever he fails to give the approved teacher his earnest and cordial support.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. M. CUNNINGHAM,
JOHN A. FOSTER,
W. H. EVANS,
L. F. WILCOX,
A. E. COX,
S. W. YANCEY,
L. L. LEDBETTER,
J. E. HURT,
FLEMING JAMES, Jr.
HENRY HODGES,

COMMITTEE.
